

All-Terrain Vehicle (ATV) and Off-Highway Vehicle (OHV) Safety References

1. Canadian Paediatric Society, Injury Prevention Committee. Preventing injuries from all-terrain vehicles. Paediatric Child Health. 2012 [cited 2015 June] Available from www.parachutecanada.org
2. Alberta Health Services- Injury Prevention, Health Promotion, Disease and Injury Prevention, Population and Public Health. Alberta Health Services Position on Child/Youth ATV Operations. December 2009 [cited 2011 July].
3. Trauma Committee of the Canadian Association of Pediatric Surgeons. Canadian Association of Pediatric Surgeons' position statement on the use of all-terrain vehicles by children and youth. J Pediatr Surg. 2008; 43: 938-939.
4. Yancher NL, Kennedy R, Russell C. ATVs: motorized toys or vehicles for children? Inj Prev. 2006;12:30-24. doi: 10.1136/ip.2006.008466.
5. Brown RL, Koeplinger ME, Mehlman CT, Gittelman M, Garcia VF. All-terrain vehicle and bicycle crashes in children: epidemiology and comparison of injury severity. J Pediatr Surg. 2002;37(3):375-380.
6. Public Health Agency of Canada, Injury and Child Maltreatment Section, Health Surveillance and Epidemiology Division. Injuries associated with motorized recreational off-highway vehicles. The Canadian Hospitals Injury Reporting and Prevention Program (CHIRPP), All ages, 1990-2007 [cited 2011 July]. Available from www.phac-aspc.gc.ca
7. Warda L, Briggs G. Off-road vehicle injury in Manitoba. Winnipeg: IMPACT: The Injury Prevention Centre of Children's Hospital; 2007 [cited 2011 May 05]
8. Public Health Agency of Canada, Injury and Child Maltreatment Section, Health Surveillance and Epidemiology Division. Injuries associated with all-terrain vehicles (ATVs). The Canadian Hospitals Injury Reporting and Prevention Program (CHIRPP) database, All ages, 1999-2001 [cited 2011 July]. Available from www.phac-aspc.gc.ca
9. Canadian Institute for Health Information (CIHI). National Trauma Registry Analysis in Brief: ATV injury hospitalizations in Canada, 2004-2005. Toronto: CIHI; 2007 [cited 2011 May 05]. Available from www.secure.cihi.ca
10. Canadian Institute for Health Information (CIHI). Summer is peak season for wheel- and water-related injuries. National Trauma Registry Minimum Data Set, 2011, Canadian Institute for Health Information; 2011 [cited 2011 July 28]. Available from www.cihi.ca

11. Alberta Centre for Injury Control & Research. All terrain vehicle (ATV) injuries in Alberta. Edmonton: Alberta Centre for Injury Control & Research; 2010.

The All Terrain Vehicles Act. Chapter A-18.02 of the Statutes of Saskatchewan 1988-89 as amended by the Statutes of Saskatchewan 1989-90, c.15 and c.54; 1990-01, c.P-15.01;1993, c.17; 2002, c.C-11.1;2004, c.L-16.1 and T-18.1; and 2005, c.M-36.1. c2005. Available from www.qp.gov.sk.ca

Alberta Centre for Injury Control & Research. All terrain vehicle (ATV) injuries in Alberta. Edmonton: Alberta Centre for Injury Control & Research; 2010.

Alberta Health Services – Injury Prevention, Health Promotion, Disease and Injury Prevention, Population and Public Health. Alberta Health Services Position on Child/Youth ATV Operations. December 2009 [cited 2011 July].

Canadian Institute for Health Information (CIHI). National Trauma Registry Analysis in Brief: ATV injury hospitalizations in Canada, 2004-2005. Toronto: CIHI; 2007 [cited 2011 May 05]. Available from www.secure.cihi.ca

Warda L, Briggs G. Off-road vehicle injury in Manitoba. Winnipeg: IMPACT: The Injury Prevention Centre of Children’s Hospital; 2007 [cited 2011 May 05].